

Annual Medicine Ball Scheduled Tonight at Medical Arts Ballroom

The Mu Delta Pi's ninth annual Medicine Ball is scheduled tonight at the Medical Arts ballroom. Dancing will be from 9:00 p. m. until midnight.

Joe Priley and his orchestra, who perform currently every Saturday night at the Elks club, will provide music for the informal dance.

Dave Mitchell and Jack Dahl are acting co-chairmen of this affair; and John MacArthur is serving as ticket and poster chairman.

Members of the Mu Delta Pi guarantee that their second project of the school year will be equally successful as its first, the prize-winning float in the Homecoming parade.

Tickets, at $1.20 per couple, may be obtained from any Mu Delta Pi member.

Corsages are banned.

IN UMD AUDITORIUM

Augsburg Choir to Appear Here

The Augsburg College Choir of Minneapolis will present a program of sacred choral music here next Monday in the UMD auditorium at 8:00 p. m. No admission will be charged.

This choir, directed by Leland B. Sateren, is well-known throughout the state. Competitive choir tryouts are held annually in September to determine the choir personnel for the year. A group of approximately 55 persons is chosen from a field of nearly four hundred students who try out for the choir.

The choir sings a cappella and all music must be memorized. It is estimated that

Harold Stassen Speaks Here Tuesday

Democratic-Republican Forum Sponsors Second Convocation

Former Minnesota governor Harold E. Stassen, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, will speak at a UMD political convocation in the auditorium at 11:00 a. m., next Tuesday.

The event is being sponsored by the Democratic-Republican Forum as part of its program to bring eminent political figures to UMD. Dudley Johnson is chairman of the forum speakers' committee.

Stassen is making his second bid for the GOP nomination, which he failed to win in 1948.

Now president of the University of Pennsylvania, he is billed as a liberal Republican. He has always been interested in international affairs, and is highly critical of the Truman administration's foreign policies. He favors a "modern gold standard."

Besides the Minnesota and Wisconsin primaries, Stassen is entered in the New Hampshire primary where he will oppose General Dwight D. Eisenhower and Senator Robert A. Taft.

Reports that he might ultimately turn to Eisenhower at the national GOP convention have been emphatically denied.

Often described as "a lone wolf, stubborn, serious, and a brilliant thinker," Stassen, at 44, is a political veteran, experienced and realistic.

Delta Pi, Wesley Sponsor Dance

"Valentine Hoe Down" will be the theme of the square dance sponsored jointly by Wesley Foundation and Phi Delta Pi, WAA honor sorority, next Tuesday from 8:00 to 11:00 p. m. This event is subsidized by the Student council and activity cards may be presented for admission.

He was born into an average family in West St. Paul. After working his way through the University of Minnesota Law school, Stassen became known as the boy wonder of politics. In 1938, at the age of 31, Stassen was elected governor of the state of Minnesota. During the famous "ninety days" after his

Royalty Contest Plans Announced

Plans for the King and Queen contests for Sno-Week have been announced by the chairmen of the Royalty committees.

Dick Gay, head of the King contest, announced that every male student on the campus must raise a beard, starting next Monday. There will be a disciplinary committee in action to enforce the proclamation. The student judged as the winner of the beard-growing contest will be crowned King of Sno-Week at a Square Dance to be held Wednesday, February 20.

Bob Juneo, Queen committee chairman, stated that the queen candidates will be nominated by various UMD clubs. The only restriction is that the candidate cannot have reigned as a queen on any previous occasion. All girls are eligible.

Cliff Moran will take a photograph of each candidate and they, in turn, will be submitted to Governor C. Elmer Anderson for judging. The winner will be crowned by the King of Sno-Week at a Varsity show on Thursday, February 21.

Nominations must be in by Friday of next week.

Root-Tilden Scholarship Requirements Listed

Students majoring in law are advised to take note of the Root-Tilden scholarships which offer the opportunity to study law at New York university.

Provisions include a $2,100 scholarship which will be renewed for the second and third years if the student maintains a high standard in legal and general scholarship.

Basic of selection includes potential capacity for unselfish leadership, extra-curricular activities and scholarship.

Conditions of eligibility are: completion of requirements for baccalaureate degree from an approved college or university, the applicant must be over 20 and not over 28 years of age and he must be a citizen of the United States.

Candidates must supply two official transcripts of complete college record along with a 1,000-word essay, setting forth plans and ambitions for a professional career.

Applications and accompanying papers should be sent to: The Dean, School of Law, New York University, Washington Square, New York City 3, New York.

Play Cast Prepares For Opening Night

"Winterset" is moving into its fourth week of rehearsals in preparation for the opening night, Feb. 13. The set still consists of a table, a chair, and two steps serving as an exit, but within two weeks it will develop into a convincing reproduction of the Brooklyn bridge and a small, dimly-lighted cellar apartment in the bank underneath. The characters reproduce their drama in this dingy interior and on the riverbank in dreary December.

The cast, under direction of Dr. Harold Hayes, devotes every night except Saturday to improve interpretation of Maxwell Anderson's difficult characterizations.

"Winterset" takes place during the depression years of the mid-thirties. It offers, in poetic drama, a scathing commentary on our economic and judicial systems.

PEMM's Schedule Sleighride Friday

Physical education majors and minors are sponsoring a sleighride Friday, February 8, at 7:30 p. m. The ride will take place at Fond du Lac and the group will end up at the Pavilion for relaxation and refreshments.

All majors and minors are invited and may bring a guest.

The sleighride will be free with the students paying for their own refreshments. Sign up with either Warren Strudwick or Carol Ink.

Pledges Undergo Formal Ceremonies

The Arrowhead room in the Hotel Duluth was the scene last week of the formal pledge acceptance ceremonies of the Beta Phi Kappa fraternity.

Following a short talk by president Robert Isaacson, frat member Bob Leestamper emphasized the importance of the preamble to the fraternity's constitution and administered the Pledge Oath to a class of twenty-eight prospective members.

Following the ceremonies, the pledge class held a brief meeting. Grant Merritt and Dale Olsen were elected as co-chairmen and Charles McElevy, secretary-treasurer. The first project of this group will be to take charge of the next social function.

During pledge week, the pledges will wear the traditional beanies of Beta Phi Kappa. When this task is completed, they will be initiated, both formally and informally, and will be awarded the fraternity pin.

Present at the ceremonies were Dr. Wolff, the club's adviser, and Dr. Livingston, and New Service chief Clarence Anderson, honor guests.

the field of high school teaching. It was there that he began to compose and arrange music.

Today, he is head of the Department of Music at Augsburg College, and director of the Augsburg College Choir. He has penned and arranged more than one hundred choral works which are used by high school, church and college choral groups throughout the country. In addition, Mr. Sateren has held the position of director of music for the University of Minnesota radio station, KUOM.

The Augsburg choir presented a concert yesterday afternoon at the Superior Central high school auditorium.

Leestamper, Sermon Offered Regular AF Appointments

Two senior AFROTC students have been accepted for appointment as second lieutenants in the regular Air Force. Both distinguished military students at UMD and members of "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities," they are Cadets Robert E. Leestamper, Aitkin, and Thomas D. Sermon, Duluth.

Air Force acceptance of their formal applications, submitted fall quarter, came in the form of a letter from the AF chief of officer procurement in Washington. The letter read, in part: "You have been selected for appointment in the United States Air Force, regular component, in the grade of second lieutenant, subject to the following qualifications: Presidential nomination, Senate confirmation, physical qualification, and designation as a distinguished military graduate."

Orchesis Slates Spring Dance Concert Practice

Any girls interested in Orchesis are invited to attend the next meeting Monday, February 4, in the gymnasium, according to an announcement by president Donna Grace.

The Orchesis is closing its membership on that day because practice for the annual Spring Dance Concert will commence at that time.

The officers of Orchesis are Donna Grace, president; Donna Unger, secretary; Marlene Peterson, corresponding secretary; Sharon Traub, treasurer, and Olga Vislas, historian. Adviser for the group is Miss MacDonald.

The meeting is scheduled to start at 7:00 p. m.

lowing qualifications: Presidential nomination, Senate confirmation, physical qualification, and designation as a distinguished military graduate."

Pending successful fulfillment of these qualifications, Sermon and Leestamper will receive their regular commissions at official commissioning ceremonies at graduation time next spring—or at summer camp—along with some 22 classmates receiving their reserve appointments.

In choosing the Air Force as a career, Cadet Sermon cites several factors influencing his decision: security, good pay, the educational opportunities offered by service schools, regular promotions, prestige, and liberal retirement benefits.

A veteran of four years of service in the Marines, two of them on active duty in World War II, he has 26 years remaining of the 30-year "hitch" he plans to serve in the Air Force. After completing his psychology major at UMD next spring, Sermon would like to go directly into flight training.

With completion of a two-year pre-law program at UMD already under his belt, Cadet Leestamper hopes for assignment in the Air Force's legal department—the Judge Advocate General's office—where he can specialize in military law. "Before I can become a military consul," he observes, "I must get my L.L.D., which I hope to earn at a civilian institution under the Air Force program."

EDITORIAL . . .

Portions of the following editorial are based on information in a pamphlet entitled, "Brotherhood Week in Schools and Colleges." This pamphlet was published by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Although the official observance of Brotherhood Week is scheduled for February 17-24, now is the time to organize Brotherhood Week programs.

Several suggestions were given in this pamphlet. Some of them include:

1. Organization of student panels to discuss problems of human relations in the school, community and nation, and the ways in which group relations may be improved.

2. Invite guest speakers, both men and women, from the community to address assemblies, classes and student clubs on democracy's need for better intergroup relations.

3. Develop musical programs featuring songs, folk dances and instrumental music of various groups.

4. Produce pageants and plays in the school and community.

5. Provide opportunities for the student government to study and develop a year-round program of activities designed to promote better group relations.

On our campus there are enough groups so that a successful convocation, or program, could be carried out.

In our estimation, the group which should head this program is the Religious council.

There are several ways in which a program of this type could be staged.

The program could be composed of musical numbers, folk dances, pageants and a talk by Dr. John King. The central theme of brotherhood could be vividly portrayed by following a program such as this.

Eighteen University Students Participate In Methodist Community House Program

"Deep in the heart of Duluth; dear to the heart of its youth," that's the motto of the Community House of the First Methodist church. The Community House is a structure dedicated to community use and the molding of character and sound citizenship in a Christian atmosphere. This four-story building, built in 1925, underwent an extensive remodeling program this past summer. Bright, lively wall colors, along with colorful drapes, now make all the rooms cheery and inviting.

This Third avenue west and Third street edifice, devoted mainly to Duluth's downtown youth, has an actual membership count of 513 young people between the ages of 6 and 18. Members come from all sections of Duluth—60th avenue east to 72nd avenue west—and a number of boys from Proctor.

To run a full-time program of the kind set up at the Community House, naturally a large number of leaders are needed. Eighteen leaders from UMD assist in one way or another in this civic enterprise, supplemented by 12 layworkers from First Methodist church. Reverend John R. Lennon, Youth Minister of the church, supervises the program, while Joseph R. Berini, UMD graduate last June, is the Community House director.

Democratic government is practiced by the Community House council, which is patterned after Duluth's city council. A mayor and four commissioners were elected by the general membership after a hotly contested fall political campaign. Their duties range from janitorial service to handling most of the discipline problems, all of which they do very conscientiously.

The Community House program consists of many clubs, classes, teams, movies, dances and parties. Virginia Christie, UMD student, has been very successful with her Rhythm club, where twirling and dancing draw many young people. A music club run by Maggie Bender and Don Sundquist, meets weekly, and recently put on a fine talent show.

Joy Ganyo, last year's STATESMAN editor, spends at least one evening a week supervising the Community House bi-weekly publication, the Spotlight. Her brother Dwaine capably leads a Wednesday night boys' gym group, where basketball is the main attraction. Fred Murphy recently served as a gym leader to thirty or forty boys aged 8 to 10, while Norma Quinlan and Carole Paulson have been busy with the girls gym group for that same age.

Casting figurines and painting them has been the favorite activity of Ed Rapp's craft class for older boys and girls. The coffee can cover plaques fashioned by Muriel Harper and Marilyn Sjoselius' group of girls were very novel, although Marilyn Novack's evening class is giving them competition with their paper mache animal project. Herb Peterson and Haakon Andreassen each have an evening woodcraft class where they help the youngsters make many clever things from the mill ends donated by leading lumber companies of Duluth.

Les Nummela, likeable senior at UMD, coached one of the church teams last year and is back again because the experience was so enjoyable. Other students who have given many hours this year to Duluth's only Settlement House program are: Roy Olson, Eric Peterson, and Ray Matsahara.

Other activities embraced in the Community House program not already mentioned, are: a Saturday morning and another afternoon basketball league; a Record time where requested records are played; a Kitchen club for older girls; a boys' Model club; a Golden Age club for old timers, 65 years and older; the Playroom, an afternoon nursery for pre-school children; bi-weekly Platter parties; Boy Cub and Girl Scouts, plus a Bluebird group; and a monthly game tournament of some kind.

According to the director, a few more leaders could be used this year, while next year a greater number of UMD students will be needed in this capacity. Here is one of the finest opportunities available for those who plan to enter the teaching or social field, to not only meet the group leadership requirements of their courses, but to find out how they might fare working with the younger set. If you are interested in leadership experience, or would like to find out more about this unique program, call the Director at 2-4860, or drop in some time for a chat.

"YOUR CLUB" SERIES—NO. 11

Rangers Render Spark to Campus Life

By BOB HOLTER

The Rangers club on this campus is a chapter of an organization found in most of the senior colleges of Minnesota. Membership is open to any and all students who have ever attended a school on one of the three great iron ranges in Minnesota or closely surrounding territory.

Although primarily a social organization, the club is also very active in campus affairs.

During the past year the Rangers have sponsored queen candidates for Homecoming, Sno-Week and the ROTC Sweetheart crown. They have also held various parties here in Duluth, a get-together on the range with Rangers from other colleges in Minnesota during the Christmas holidays, and dinner meetings.

Last year the annual spring picnic, a final gathering, was held at Patterson Park, Wisconsin, and was a great success.

An interesting feature of the Rangers club is the fact that different officers are elected each quarter during the year. This allows many members to assume posts of responsibility. The present officers are Lucas Chimzar, president; Bill Casey, vice-president; Alice Arola, secretary, and John Luhta, treasurer. Dr. H. W. Johnson is the club adviser.

These officers assume their duties at the regular bi-weekly meetings held in Washburn. A typical meeting might include the planning of a party, discussion and action on committee recommendations, discussion of requests made by various campus organizations, and at the close of the meeting coffee is served and a social hour follows.

Plans have also been discussed to set up a familiarization service for new students from the range, but these are still incomplete.

All eligible students are urged to attend the next meeting at which plans will be discussed for Sno-Week activities.

CHESS, CHECKERS and comic books are but a few forms of entertainment offered members of the First Methodist Community House. Under the direction of Joe Berini, a 1951 honor graduate at UMD, the Community House is both a recreation center for Duluth youths and affords an opportunity for UMD students who wish to get valuable leadership experience. NOTICE

A lighting assistant is needed by the University Theater and the music department. Remuneration for this position will amount to $75 per quarter, and duties will consist of being in charge of all lighting necessary for programs in the auditorium.

In-service training will be provided by the University theater.

Calling All Coeds

By LOIS CONRAD

The beginning of a new year, a birthday, or the starting of a new school year are all good times for taking a good inventory of yourself and setting up new habits and goals.

Don't wait for a special occasion to present itself before you make a significant change. Any day is a good time to decide upon a new habit and to stick to it in the same manner a fly sticks to flypaper.

Don't resolve to do something or change your way if this resolution doesn't belong to you. It would be silly for a gay person whose feet fairly twinkle as she walks to resolve to cultivate the habit of walking with slow dignity. You should study yourself and develop your own charm; the you of your dreams.

Too many of us underestimate ourselves. We see someone who has achieved perfection and say, "Oh, I could never be like that."

Why not? You could be beautiful and charming if you just gave yourself a chance and lived up to your expectations.

Don't choose so many resolutions that you could reform the world at once. One thing well done is better than trying to plan improvements in ten directions and succeeding in none. Condense your reforms to two or three and then plan a way of making them effective in your present college schedule which we know is already humming with more excitement than a saw mill.

Once your new habits are planned and planted, make them take root so that they'll grow and become a part of you. Accept absolutely no excuses from yourself. If you do make one slip just take hold of the situation and keep on going. Remember, persistence is the first secret of success.

Report from Your COUNCIL..

by BOB LEESTAMPER

The types of business the Council handles are varied and many. To best exemplify this I am including in this week's column the major items of the secretary's notes of the January 22 meeting.

OLD BUSINESS

"Bob Leestamper read a letter from the Holiday bureau expressing their appreciation for the gifts of children's toys from the students who attended the Charity ball.

"The freshman class was allocated $153 for an All-School dance to be held March 7. A suggestion was made that All-School dances be scheduled on the special calendar at the beginning of the year. This will minimize any conflicts with organizational dances.

"John Coleman, chairman of the Constitution committee, was not present, therefore no discussion of the constitution took place.

"Regarding Washburn, the president reported that the Council owns a radio-photograph combination but it needs repairs. Mr. Wenzel said that a list of furniture including drapes will be moved to the southwest corner in Washburn."

NEW BUSINESS

"There was a discussion of ways to increase attendance at convocations. Harry Brusell was appointed to talk to Dr. Lindquist, convocation chairman, about this question.

"Ron Kramnic presented a tentative budget for the 1952 Prom. The budget totaled $3,180, with $2,500 going to the orchestra, $375 for decorations, $200 for miscellaneous items, $75 for publicity and $30 for tickets."

By reading these notes, you can understand that the Council has several jobs to do. Some are in the financial field, such as allocation of money for approved activities. It is also the duty of the Council to appoint the chairmen of the Homecoming, Charity Ball and Sno-Week. Recommendations regarding student affairs are presented to the administration by the Student council.

Ski Team Cops Meet; Face Ole's Wednesday

LeTourneau Places Second in Victory

Under the tutelage of Coach Ward Wells, the UMD ski team opened its season last Saturday at Mont du Lac with an impressive win in a quadrangular meet against Michigan Tech, Minnesota and North Dakota.

Phil LeTourneau finished second with the combined time of 82.7, tying Gopher skier, Mark Magney, a former Bulldog slatman.

LeTourneau and Magney ended behind Michigan Tech's Jerry Harris, who toured the slalom and downhill in 81.4. Harris won the slalom and LeTourneau the downhill.

Carl Schramm, Gordy and Arvid Slotness finished fifth, sixth and seventh respectively in the final analysis for the UMD squad. Steve Wilcosz finished 11th and George Bogart, 12th, for the Bulldogs.

Winners of their first meet of the season at Mont du Lac, the Bulldog ski-men journey to Northfield next Wednesday to engage in a dual meet with the St. Olaf aggregation.

The match will include the downhill, slalom, cross-country and jumping events and will be the initial meet for the UMD cross-country and jumping skiers.

Arvid Slotness, Gordy Slotness, Paul Vesterstein and Duane Ramfjord will carry the burden of the defending MIAC champions, each entering all events. Jack Wagenstein, freshman from Duluth East, will take part in the downhill, slalom and jumping events.

Don Nygaard and Steve Wilcosz are entered in the downhill, slalom and cross-country events.

Gerlachmen Rated Underdog Against Smooth Gustie Five

By DWAIN GANYO

Still looking for his first MIAC win Coach Joe Gerlach sends his ballplayers into two conference games in the next four days, both within the friendly confines of the armory where they have picked up two non-conference wins already. Tomorrow night's "visitors" are the tall conference contenders from Gustavus Adolphus and Tuesday night it is the fast-breaking Lions of St. Olaf.

When the Bulldogs met the Gusties earlier in the season at St. Peter they bowed 75-50 to 6' 8" Ed Huse, all-conference guard Red Rehwalt, Haldo Norman, and cohorts. That was before Denny Nordling, frosh star of last season, got his army release a few days ago because of partial deafness.

So the Gusties are favored, sure, but the old dope bucket has been given many a kick by an inspired Bulldog team playing before a hometown crowd in the old armory.

Just run your mind back a while to the last half of that Hamline game; to that upset win over Bemidji—their opening game this year; even back to the last time a Gustie five was in the armory and the Bulldogs lost a heartbreaker by only 60-59.

St. Olaf has not won a MIAC basketball game yet from UMD in the three years we have been a conference member. They get their last chance Tuesday night since this is their only meeting of this campaign and effective next fall St. Olaf is not a conference member.

Both teams have new coaches this year—last year's St. Olaf

Swanson Kegles High 595 Series

Donn Swanson fell five pins short of the coveted "600" mark as he found the groove for a neat 595 series in pacing the Klo-Kay intramural bowling team to a three-game sweep over the Lindbergs. Peterson's remained unbeaten with a three-game win over the Carps. Hanson's copped a trio from the Door-Mats.

Honors for the week went to: Klo-Kay, high three-game series, 2,109; high single, 731; Swanson, high three-game series, 595; and Moilanen, high single, 213. Two other bowlers besides Swanson hit the "500" mark, those being Moilanen with 576 and Bromme with 514.

The unbeaten Klo-Kay team is defending champion and now possess a record of six victories.

Intra-Mural News

The Intramural Curling league will definitely begin next Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. in the Duluth Curling club. All students interested must be there—it will be the last chance to enter the league. The play is free and includes instruction in the game of curling.

Boasting eight former star Range athletes now attending UMD, the Lakeside Merchants team is currently in first place of the City AA basketball league with four wins and one loss.

The Merchants top ten consists of five Stepan brothers, all formerly of Tower-Soudan; four ex-Ely Junior college athletes and one Embarrass high school graduate of a few years ago.

Of the Stepan quintet, three are attending UMD, including 6' 5½" John Stepan. A Duluth Central graduate of 1951, Big John was all-district 27 while playing as a sophomore for Tower-Soudan; two-year, all-district 26 as a Central Trojan; two-year-all-region 7 and all-state during his junior year on Central's state championship squad.

Marty and Frank, 6' 5" and 6' 2" respectively, also are UMD students and former all-district 27 players. Six-foot, six-inch Paul and 6' 2" Joe round out the Stepan congregation. Paul and Joe are the only team members not attending UMD.

Former Ely JC basketballers Ray Pechek, Clint Coombe, Lucas Chimzar and Chick Maki plus Embarrass' contribution, Dale Holter, complete the Lakeside roster.

Pechek, a 6' 4" junior, is also a former all-district 27 cager and sparked the JC Ironmen for the past two years.

John Stepan, a transfer from the U. of M., and Pechek are the top scorers in the eight-team AA loop. Stepan has maintained a 14-point average and Pechek a 12-point average.

Not only is the Merchant team one of the best in the city, but they double as the "Lakers" in the UMD intramural league with the exception of Paul and Joe Stepan. In the I-M league the Lakers, alias the Lakeside Merchants, have one victory and no defeats.

Bulldog Sextet Drops League Tilt to Fast Tommie Icemen

By DALE HOLTER

The UMD puck-chasers lost their second straight game by a 6-3 count to a fast St. Thomas sextet last Saturday in the Duluth Curling and Skating club.

The Tommies, who had a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period, saw their advantage melt when frosh Bob Juneo scored two quick goals in the second canto. The Tommies bounced right back, however, and grabbed a lead that the Branchmen were unable to overcome.

The Bulldogs' only other counter came on a long shot by Joe Kolar at the beginning of the third period.

Urbanski tallied two goals for the St. Thomas collegians.

Joe Kolar, Taconite, played an outstanding game on defense in the place of Eveleth's Tommy Ventrucci, who was unable to play because of ill health. Coach Eddolls also praised the play of Goalie Tony Mendesh and Center Juneo.

Attempts are being made to get games with Macalester college in Minneapolis February 1 and 2. There is a strong possibility that one or both games may be played in Williams Arena, U. of Minnesota fieldhouse.

Other games already scheduled are with St. Cloud, there, February 12. The Bulldogs will have a three-game series with the 179th Fighter squadron on February 20, 21, 27.

Mickey Spillblood to Join Statesman Staff

Mickey Spillblood, foremost of America's young mystery writers, joins the STATESMAN staff next week when the first installment of his newest Ike Hatchet mystery, "My Gun Is the Jury," will appear on the feature page.

Previously published Ike Hatchet mysteries include "Vengeance Is Quick," "The Big Night," and "One Lonely Kill." The first of the series was entitled "I, the Eye," and sold two billion copies. As his publishers so modestly put it: "Practically everybody reads Mickey's books."

Plans are now under way to translate the hard-boiled private eye's adventures into Chinese, Turkish, Latin, Latvian and English. The only state in the Union where the Ike Hatchet stories have not been well received is Massachusetts. Even the book-reviews were banned in Boston.

Superior TC Yellowjackets Defeat Bulldogs

UMD's high-scoring Bulldogs lost to a higher-scoring Superior State quintet in the highest-scoring game in the history of the Duluth branch last Wednesday night in the Armory.

Victors by an enormous 87-79 count, the TC Yellowjackets displayed remarkable shooting from afar and from close in as they bucketed 30 field goals and 27 free throws.

The Branchmen managed to tally a like number from the floor but fell behind on gift shots, sinking eight less than the 'Jackets.

The Superior State trio of Jim Whittier, Pug Polglase and Jack Hulmer paced the visitors as they equally shared a combined 62-point output. It was the hard-working Whittier who leashed the Bulldog of UMD, constantly outshooting and almost out-rebounding the entire Duluth team.

Reserve Guard Warren Strudwick came in with 13 counters to top the defeated squad. An ever dangerous set-shot, "Strud" was exceptionally hot as he hit on five consecutive long ones late in the third period.

Guard Charley Hill and Forward Bruce Paulson garnered 11 apiece, two more than did little Mel Koivisto, freshman forward.

The contest was all Superior shooting from the first stanza until the final few minutes when Coach Joe Gerlach's cagers scored at will against TC substitutes.

The intermission at half-time saw the Bulldogs trail, 48-35. Following a 71-51 third quarter deficit, UMD rallied to close the spread to the final 87-79.

inauguration, he took bold steps to clean up and reorganize the entangled state scene.

He was re-elected in 1940 and 1942. After four months of his third term, Stassen resigned, going into active Naval duty in the Pacific. He served as an aide to Admiral Halsey.

President Roosevelt made him a delegate to the 1945 San Francisco conference, at which the United Nations was organized. There he was immensely popular among the foreign delegations.

Stassen's appearance is the second in a series of political convocations scheduled by the Forum. Senator Edward Thyne will be on campus April 5, according to an announcement by Dudley Johnson.

Cagers Drop Fifth Straight Conference Basketball Game

UMD dropped its fifth straight game in the Minnesota Intercollegiate conference last Saturday when they were decisively trounced, 80-52, by St. Thomas of St. Paul on the victors' court. It was the Tommies' second conference win in four games.

Both coaches agreed that the refereeing was far below par (thirty-nine fouls were called on the Bulldogs and twenty-nine on the Tommies) and that several unnecessary fouls were called on both teams. The Tommies cashed in on 18 of 42 free throws, while the Bulldogs made 14 of 30.

The Tommies led at halftime, 34-26.

Jim Remes, a 6-3 center, led the Tommies' scoring barrage with 27 points, on seven buckets and 10 gift tosses. Bob Lee, an all-state guard from Rochester two years ago, scored eight.

The Bulldogs were led by hard-working Bruce Paulson who poured in 15 points. His inability to connect from the free throw line cost Paulson five points, as he made but one of six gift tosses.

Jim Anderson, who had a 26-point scoring output under his belt in the St. John's game, was held to nine by the Tommies. Chuck Hill added eight and Mel Koivisto seven to the Bulldogs' attack.

Six LSA Members Attend Conference

On Saturday, January 26, six Lutheran Student Association members went to Minneapolis for the Lutheran Evangelism conference. The theme of the conference was "Share Christ Today."

LSA members who attended were Louise Bjork, Nancy Jensen, Avis Oestreich, Don Evan-son and Fred Olsen. Pat Schmidt, LSA adviser, also attended.

The membership drive is still on. Glen Grondland's team is leading in the drive.
